

CREATIVE TEACHING

- Why are children bored in church?
- Are all your children engaged in the teaching?
- How can we gauge how well they are understanding?
- How can we know that they are internalising the Christian principles we are teaching them?

When you have 20 children in front of you, you have 20 different levels of learning. Creative teaching allows the teacher to get many of these different learners engaged.

Bloom's Taxonomy is a model that has been created to help teachers understand levels of learning and ways of setting teaching goals (objectives) in a lesson.

REMEMBER

Basic knowledge that involves recognising and remembering facts, terms, basic concepts or answers without necessarily understanding what they mean.

- Teaching the Books of the Bible
 - Memory verses
- Choral reading of Bible accounts

UNDERSTAND

Basic comprehension that involves demonstrating an understanding of facts and ideas by organizing, comparing, translating, interpreting, giving descriptions and stating the main ideas.

- Guided questioning
 - Object Lessons
- Role Playing/Dramatization

APPLY

Application involves using acquired knowledge to solving problems in new situations. How does this work into my regular life?

- Story telling (Parables)
- Guided Role Playing
- Situational Games

ANALYZE

Involves examining and breaking information into component parts, determining relationship of the parts, identifying motives or causes, making inferences and finding evidence to support them.

- Classifying the Ten Commandments
 - Station Teaching
- Compare and Contrast Charts

EVALUATE

Evaluation involves presenting and defending opinions by making judgements about information; the validity of ideas or quality of work.

- What would you do activities/questions
 - Interview a Bible Character
 - Construct a story board

CREATE

A fusion of information involving building, structuring, and designing information to express what has been learned.

- Building replicas (ie the ark, supply cities in Egypt, fondant animals)
- Creating a modern drama based on Biblical principles
- Writing and performing a puppet show/or sound story

This is a copy of lesson plan form that we have made for our kids club Enlightening Kidz.

It's missing its second page which shows any crafts or games we are doing and then gives the review/closing.

We use every aspect of our time to reinforce the teaching including the worship time, games, crafts, memory verses, and object lessons.
